Information

Creating an art webshop is more than just a business venture. It is a commitment to fostering a global community that appreciates and supports the arts. Artists all over the world can put their creations on sale to share their work.

There are some goals for this project to be better. Artists should have their own accounts, so they can manage their activities themselves. The shop should also look appetising to customers, who appreciate art. The buying activity should be easy and understandable to non-IT people.

The webshop is mainly focused on local artists, who want to make some pocket change, while being engaged in making better art.
